In 1852, George Washington Green purchased 350 acres of land "on the waters of Richland Creek and Reedy River" north of Greenville for $1,500. There he built "Green Farm," a modest one-story dwelling that is now the rear wing of Cherrydale. On March 2, 1857, Green sold that land and an additional 100 acres to James Clement Furman, President of Furman University for $7,000. This $5,500 price difference suggests that Green constructed the house between 1852 and 1857.

Between 1857 and 1860, Furman and his wife, Mary Glen Davis Furman, remodeled Green Farm, adding four rooms and a new entrance with a front porch, four Greek-Revival-style columns, a three-bay portico and were calling the renovated house "Cherrydale."

The Cherrydale farm was three miles from downtown Greenville, where Furman University was then located, so James Clement Furman kept a separate residence near the university while school was in session. Furman retired as president in 1881 and lived his final years at Cherrydale writing and preaching. He died in an upstairs bedroom of the house in 1891.

Furman willed Cherrydale to his wife, Mary, who sold much of the surrounding land but continued to live there until her death in 1911. Mrs. Furman's will transferred ownership of Cherrydale and the remaining property to her children. Her daughter, Mrs. Goldsmith lived there until the mid-1930s, when she moved to New York. In 1939 Mrs. Goldsmith sold Cherrydale, together with 55 acres of surrounding land.

The buyers, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Stone III, discovered the house to be in terrible condition, with no electricity, heat or water, a sagging front veranda, and an open porch along one side. They modernized and restored Cherrydale to be their home, and in 1976 it was placed on the National Register of Historic Places. The Stone family retained possession of Cherrydale and it was extensively and carefully renovated in 1997 as a corporate guesthouse.

When AIG Baker bought the plant site from Umbro International in 1998 with plans to construct Cherrydale Point shopping center, it also purchased the Cherrydale property. Together the Stone family and AIG Baker donated the house to Furman.

On March 7 and 8, 1999, Expert Movers of Virginia used their engineering skills to move the huge home three miles along Poinsett Highway to its present location at the highest point of the Furman campus. During homecoming that same year, the university dedicated Cherrydale as Furman's Alumni House.

Cherrydale is available for events and can be used by any group, however preference will be given to those affiliated with Furman. To inquire about reserving Cherrydale for a special occasion, please call the Furman Alumni Association at (864) 294-3464.

Kids Planet

Kids Planet is the place to go in Greer with your children! Nestled in Century Park in Greer it is a wonderful gathering area for all ages. There are two awesome play-structures, surrounded by wooden picnic areas, pavilions and a paved walking track. It was built through a huge outpouring of love by the community of Greer, for all children of the Upstate.

The design of each playground was inspired by dreams of children in the community and adults carried out these dreams with hammers, saws and drills. On the second distinctive playground every apparatus is 100% accessible by children and adults in wheelchairs and allows children and adults of all abilities to play side-by-side. Kids Planet draws families and special needs groups from across the Upstate. The playgrounds benefit every child in the community by giving them a free, safe haven to run, jump, laugh and play heartily.

The surrounding pavilions may be rented March - October in 2 hour time periods. Small shelters are $10.00 and Large shelters are $20.00. For further information call the Greer Recreation Department at 848-5384.

Kids Planet is located at Century Park, south of Downtown Greer. 3605 Brushy Creek Road, between Hwy. 14 and Buncombe Road, Greer

Lights

Founded in 1992, Roper Mountain Holiday Lights, an event co-produced by the Rotary Club of Greenville and the Roper Mountain Science Center Association, has become a holiday tradition for family and friends throughout the Upstate and beyond.

This year marks the 16th anniversary of Roper Mountain Holiday Lights, and for the first time, visitors will also have an opportunity to park their car and take a short walk to an area called Winter Wonderland where they can see Santa Claus, view gigantic Christmas cards made by area school kids, enjoy hot cocoa and participate in a variety of hands-on activities. The 1.5 mile drive will still be part of the overall experience, but visitors will have an opportunity, if they wish, to park their car upon arrival and take a short walk to the Science Center's amphitheater, which will be transformed into a scenic Winter Wonderland.

Zhon-McFadden Duo

Wofford College has entered its eighth year of presenting its popular

Texas. With quick-change artistry and quicksilver dialogue, two master comedians portray all of the 24 zany citizens of Texas' third smallest town, where the Lion's Club is too liberal and Patsy Cline never dies. This time, it's 24 hours before Christmas and all comic hell is about to break loose as the eccentric characters attempt to cope with seasonal traumas such as a disaster-prone Little Theatre production of A Christmas Carol and a yard decorating contest that is being sabotaged by a mysterious Christmas phantom. The show is recommended for high school age and older because it contains a bit of language. It is performed at the Flat Rock Playhouse in Flat Rock, NC

A Dickens of a Christmas

A Dickens of a Christmas is a community holiday festival that brings the Victorian Spirit of Charles Dickens's time to downtown Spartanburg. Dramatic performers, musicians, working artists and community organizations immerse festival-goers in a swirling array of sights, sounds and activities typical of the Victorian era. These include living window displays depicting scenes of the holiday season and from Dickens's "A Christmas Carol," street entertainers, strolling carolers, hand bell choirs, marching suffragettes, chestnut roasters and other Victorian inspired activities. "The Hay Market" area features demonstrating artists and a sales venue for nonprofit arts groups. Horse-drawn carriage rides and a Victorian Santa to hear children's Christmas Wish Lists add to the festive atmosphere.

Oconee Bale Trail

The air is crisp, the sky is a bright blue, the clouds are white and puffy, the roadsides are full of fall flowers, and the leaves are turning. In short, the scenery is beautiful and photo opportunities are everywhere. This year is more exciting than ever with local schools, businesses, and individuals coming together for the First Annual Oconee Bale Trail!

The Bale Trail is a contest for decorating hay bales and is open to anyone or any group in the county. Many bales are already on display, however bales may be added to the trail at any time. To be eligible for the cash prizes, entries must be on display by October 16th. We expect that most bales will be on display through the Thanksgiving holidays.

Goodies frontman Holiday Childress performs solo

Creative Loafing Atlanta once said of Holiday with the Goodies, "The Goodies frontman Holiday Childress is one of the most visually hilarious frontmen in regional rock-n-roll, making bigger impressions with his eyebrows and waxed moustache than most acts manage with laser shows and fireworks. Factor in his fiery funk/rock lead guitar, with a Freddie Mercury singing voice and high stepping dance moves worthy of Paula Abdul, and you've got a natural born video star." Childress says, "The vibe and presence of a Goodies show are still very much a part of what i do solo." Translation: you won't be disappointed.

Gypsy

From the blast of the first trumpet to the last hot spotlight, it's little wonder why "Gypsy" reigns as one of the greatest Broadway musicals of the 20th century. Brassy, funny, and unforgettable, this show features music by Jule Styne, lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, and a book by Arthur Laurents. Packing a powerful wallop, "Gypsy" serves up one popular standard after another, such as "Everything's Coming Up Roses," "You Gotta Have A Gimmick," and "Let Me Entertain You." Everyone agrees - Broadway musicals don't get much better than "Gypsy."

A Dickens of a Christmas

A Dickens of a Christmas is a community holiday festival that brings the Victorian Spirit of Charles Dickens's time to downtown Spartanburg. Dramatic performers, musicians, working artists and community organizations immerse festival-goers in a swirling array of sights, sounds and activities typical of the Victorian era. These include living window displays depicting scenes of the holiday season and from Dickens's "A Christmas Carol," street entertainers, strolling carolers, hand bell choirs, marching suffragettes, chestnut roasters and other Victorian inspired activities. "The Hay Market" area features demonstrating artists and a sales venue for nonprofit arts groups. Horse-drawn carriage rides and a Victorian Santa to hear children's Christmas Wish Lists add to the festive atmosphere. "Dickens" begins at 6 pm with a Dickens Parade; featuring Victorian costumed characters, singers, musicians and anyone who wants to join in. Denny's annual tree lighting ceremony takes place at 7:30 pm in Denny's Plaza.
